TEACHERS' MEETING

A meeting of the teachers in the districts north of Edmonton was held on Saturday afternoon at Poplar Lake school. The teachers from Horse Hills, Belmont, Turnip Lake, Excelsior and Poplar Lake districts were present.

Mr. Fletcher gave an interesting and helpful paper on History, dealing specially with the Tudor period.

Inspector Perrett was present and gave a practical talk on Textbooks and Their Use. There was an informal discussion on both topics, in which all took part freely. Though the attendance was small, yet this meeting was felt to be profitable.

It was decided to have another meeting on some Saturday in January at Poplar Lake as it seemed to be most central. Mr. Wade will give a summary of current events, and Mr. McKittrick will give a paper on some topic of his selection. All teachers in neighboring sections are invited, as are also any friends of education who may not be teachers. The time of meeting will be announced later, so as not to clash with any other meetings.

FORTY SIX POUND OATS

Wm. Wakeford, of Clover Bar, has left an excellent sample of Northern Alberta oats at the Bulletin office. They are of the Big Four variety and weigh 46 1-2 pounds to the bushel and yielded one hundred and six bushels to the acre. This is said to be the only Big Four oats in this district. Two years ago Mr. Wakeford purchased six bushels of this grain at St. Paul, Minnesota. This year from 28 acres he got 2964 bushels. They are said to be eight or ten days earlier than the Banner oats. Mr. Wakeford sowed his on May 15th. He has already sold 400 bushels at 75 cents a bushel.

—The Edmonton Old Timers' Association will hold their annual dinner at the Edmonton hotel on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. Tickets may be purchased from Wm. Ibbotson, Geo. P. Sanderson, Donald Ross, Thos. Houston, and Ed. Nagle.

A WOMAN'S HEART

The National Stock Company played to a good house Saturday night in their presentation of the great labor play, A Woman's Heart. The characters were splendid. Horace V. Noble, as Reuben Warner, was grand. His every appearance on the stage was greeted with great applause. He not only acted, but was, the exact character. Clara Macdonald Cornyn played two parts. As Polly Fletcher she was exceedingly good, and as Clara she surpassed herself. In the latter character her appearance was extremely much-provoking, and her acting simply brought down the house. Marie Davidson, as Margaret Knowlton, played her part well, and especially in the last two acts. Ivy Lyons as Nell, was very pathetic and played the part with a great deal of merit. Andrew Knowlton played his part splendidly. Tom Schwartz was particularly good in the strike scene as the spokesman for the aggrieved workmen. Ralph Standish took a leading part and took it well, as did also Bob Appleton, Stephen Fletcher, Old Benson, and Billy Hopkins. All the characters were accorded very liberal applause.

The specialties were all good and of a distinctly refined nature. The company plays the Prisoner of Zenda, this evening.

SHAREHOLDERS MEET

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition Association was held Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in Gariepy Hall. About thirty shareholders were present and a splendid meeting was held. The president, Donald Ross, opened the proceedings with an address. By an unanimous vote of the meeting the old board were requested to continue in office for another year. The financial statement for the past year was splendid and reflected credit on the board of management. F. E. Tims was appointed a delegate to attend a convention to be named later by the Northwest government for naming the dates of the fairs throughout Alberta. A full report of the meeting will appear in tomorrow's issue of the Bulletin.

If you are at all interested in pretty china and handsome glass, you cannot spend ten minutes more pleasantly and profitably than by taking a look through our china department. We have this season made a very special effort to have a collection of china and glass which should possess sufficient a taste merit to please the most fastidious connoisseurs.

We believe our effort has been entirely successful, and we are now showing forth the Christmas trade in this department, a class of goods which is usually found only in the larger stores in the great cities. You do not need to be an expert to recognize merit in these goods. Every piece has been selected for its individual and lasting beauty.

There is an aristocracy, so to speak, in china and glassware. We would not trouble you to read this announcement unless we had goods to show you of a class quite distinct from those shown in every store along the street.

On our tables are shown some lovely Wedgwood ware (the real thing, not the obvious imitations which are often offered as such) in jugs of various sizes, and sugar bowls and cream jugs.

Cups and saucers and plates, in blue and gold, (real bullion gold, which will wear a lifetime), possess a delicate beauty which would excite anyone for looking the tenth commandment. In Copeland china (the real thing again) we have sets in white, with blue and gold stripes, very handsome, at $25 to $75. In Limoges china we have tea sets in rich and dainty designs at $10 to $16; also a large stock in this ware, which may be bought separately—cups and saucers, plates of various sizes, salad bowls, platters, etc.

In fancy Bavarian china, we have a very interesting collection of odd pieces, in various colorings and very handsome decorations, such as salad bowls, cake plates, bon-bons, biscuit jars, chocolate jugs, etc. Prices on these will strike you as low.

In cut glass, we are showing some beautiful productions in decanters, spirit jugs, vinegar and oil bottles, carafes, bon-bons and cream jugs, from the plain bowl, with cut neck and stopper, at $2, to a magnificent, massive, sparkling, full-cut bottle, at $15.

We have said nothing about ordinary decorated dinner and tea sets, toilet sets, etc. That is another story.

If this were done it would be of great assistance to the police in tracing cases of poisoned domestic animals, of which a number have recently occurred.

—Public meetings will be held by Frank Oliver, M. P., on the questions arising out of the recent session of parliament, at the Agricultural schoolhouse, Saturday, December 12th, at eight o'clock; Ray, on Wednesday afternoon, December 16th, at one o'clock; Riviere qui Parle, Thursday afternoon, December 17th, at two o'clock; Villeneuve, on Thursday evening, December 17th, at eight o'clock.

—Ponoka Herald.—The wire stringing gang arrived here from the north Tuesday with the wire for the Bell long distance telephone. Other gangs are at work both north and south and it is expected that the wire will be all strung and connection made between Calgary and Edmonton some time next week, if the weather continues favorable.

—Herald.—Rev. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, president of the presbytery of the Presbyterian churches of this district, and who was here Sunday and Monday assisting in the dedication of the new church, is one of the pioneers of Northern Alberta, and relates some interesting anecdotes of the early days here. Sixteen years ago he rode from Calgary to Edmonton with Jack McCue, who was at that time running "be stage" between these two points. At that time there was not a house between Red Deer and J. E. Ayiwin's place. In this comparatively short time there have been marvelous changes in this part of Alberta. Where at that time were only the haunts of the Indians, there are now well settled communities of well-to-do and thrifty farmers. The next sixteen years will see other changes in this district surpassed by those of the past sixteen.

PREFACE

[to "Edmonton Illustrated"]

To those who have known Edmonton from its early days, and who wish to keep a reference of its present stage of development for the days when we shall have a great city here, we present this volume as one of value.

For all those who wish to demonstrate to distant friends the, to them, but little known conditions of living, general advancement in town and country, etc., etc., treated on herein we offer this volume as the most complete extant. Though Edmonton is rapidly becoming known the world over, yet the actual knowledge of these parts is generally but meagre, and often very misleading, as the writer knows personally. This is also evidenced by the complete surprise shown by the average newcomer.

For these and other reasons we believe a work of this kind to be a real present need and our aim is to make it as exhaustive as it is within our power to do. Other works along this line have gone about half way; we have gone to the end, according to our light. Therefore we beg leave to present this little volume as the most practical and complete yet published, and beg you to give it your kindest consideration. The delay in publishing is largely directly due to the endeavor to include all of 1903's advancement, pictured and described.

CONTROL OF ROADS

Editor Bulletin.—As the annual road meetings in this country will soon come off, I would like to draw the attention of those interested to the following resolutions, as worthy of discussion:—

That the Territorial government should take over the control and management of the roads.

That a permanent department with a member of the House as head, be appointed to look after it.

That the country be divided into large districts with a competent overseer, answerable to that department for the state of the roads in his district.

That the province have the power to appoint assistants, acting under his advice, to superintend and direct the actual work.

That the expenses be met by a straight tax on the land, but giving everyone the option to work or pay.

Under the present system the amount of tax or work claimed for the quarter sections is too small to meet the requirements, as can be seen from the state of the roads and the amount of volunteer labor done over and above the requirements. Again, the labor so given is not spent to the best advantage of the roads. The making and repairing of roads is naturally to every farmer. Even those who could look after it are often so fixed that they cannot spare the time away from their farms to attend to the work as they would wish and, therefore, incompetent men are often put in charge. Again the making of good roads is not a local question, but one of national importance and everyone living along a given road should have a voice in its management, not over a small piece of it, but from its beginning to its end. People don't care to tax themselves to do work or improvements in another district, as the districts are now constituted, even though they themselves are the heaviest losers by having to haul over the roads in that district to get to market. The districts are usually not built to suit the requirements of the road, that is, where there is a poor piece of road a large district would be made round it so as to secure enough, available labor to fix it and keep it in that condition. It is usually the other way, a poor road and little available labor; to the disadvantage of those who live on either side of it. To get road making machinery costs money. Small districts can't afford it, but large ones could, and finally if the money spent in horses and wagons, destroyed by his roads in one year, were intelligently spent for the advantage of the same roads, there would not be the same kick against the roads. Many other and more important reasons could be given in favor of government control of roads and as a set off against any slight raise in the expense which the new system might entail; but with the above said reasons for bringing it forth, I will leave it to the consideration of those interested.
